Corrie ten Boom

After her release from the concentration camp where her own sister, brother, father and nephew had died at the hands of the Nazis, Corrie traveled the globe telling her story in sixty-four countries. In the early 1970s Corrie's best-selling book, The Hiding Place, was made into a movie. Corrie went on to write many other inspirational books and videos. Crowds gathered to hear this humble woman of faith. As people listened to her message of God's power and mercy, they were challenged to put their trust in Him. Corrie ten Boom died April 15, 1983, on her 91st birthday.

Inspiring

A series of educational and inspirational programs for CHURCHES, SYNAGOGUES and COMMUNITIES.

"Sadly, true accounts of brave Christians rescuing Jews during the Holocaust are quite rare. The Corrie Ten Boom story is an awe inspiring classic. Susie Sandager brilliantly recounts a timeless family story, relevant to Christians and Jews, deeply rooted in love for God and respect for his covenant. In her one-woman presentation, Sandager also issues a remarkable challenge, a message of daring to care in a world of indifference and inhumanity; indeed, for Sandager, like Corrie the survivor she depicts, the lessons of the indescribable tragedy of the Holocaust must never again be ignored or unheeded. Susie Sandager's acting is intensely moving as she brings to life her courageous character Corrie. Each time I view Sandager's production I am reminded anew of the importance of love to overcome evil, and also why, more than ever, positive Christian-Jewish relations are imperative today."
